DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the air conditioning arrangement, the profiled leg formed as an extruded profiled section and support frame with vertical profiled sections must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims are vague and indefinite because some of the claimed elements have not been shown in the drawings (see above).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Marsala in view of Lopez.

Marsala discloses a cooling array for electrical components 20; an air conditioning arrangement 30, 32 connected with a heat source of components 20 via a coolant-conducting inflow and an outflow line 16, a plurality of component inlet lines branch off of the inflow line and a plurality of component outflow lines branch off of the outflow line; at least one component inlet line and at least one component outflow line each is assigned to a built-in electrical component 20 (see Fig. 2). Marsala discloses the claimed invention but silent regarding the housing, the coupling connections, the flow rate control, the intended use for a switchgear cabinet, ventilating device and support frame with profiled sections. Lopez discloses the cooling system having quick disconnect couplings (see Fig. 5) and flow rate control device 296. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to use couplings as disclosed by Lopez in the device disclosed by Marsala for easy elements replacement and assembly and it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to use flow rate control for adjusting to a cooling requirement of each component. Details written to the housing, the framing, extruded profiled sections (as best understood –pipes) and ventilating device are well known and conventionally used in the industry, therefore obvious. The ventilating device is not sufficiently disclosed and presumed to be basically a hole to release air from the fluid filled space which is well known and used in numerous commercial and domestic applications. With respect to the switchgear cabinet recitation in claims 3 and 8, it has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).
